Department Of Labor Plans No Further Contest of Case

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 5—Vera, the Countess of Cathcart, won her suit to remain in this country today when Federal Judge Bondy sustained a writ of habeas corpus, after District Attorney Buckner had entered in the record that adultery does not constitute a crime under the laws of the union of South Africa.

The Countess has been refused admission by immigration authorities on the grounds of moral turpitude, after her admission that she had accompanied the Earl of Craven to South Africa from England while both were married.

After detention on Ellis Island for several days the Countess was granted entrance for ten days, pending a decision on her appeal to the Secretary of Labor.

Her attorneys then entered the suit for habeas corpus on which the decision was based.

Her temporary permit expired on Wednesday night at eleven o'clock. Judge Bondy, after his decision, said that if the department of labor had further evidence it wished to submit he would re-open the case, but after a consultation with Mr. Buckner Theodore Risley, solicitor of the department, authorized Mr. Buckner to tell the court the matter might rest upon the record.

PROH ISSUE TAKEN UP IN EARNEST NOW

Congress May Decide On Reorganization Of Dry Units

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 5—Congress took up in earnest today the question of re-organization of the prohibition enforcement activities of the government when the ways and means committee of the house began consideration of a bill to create a separate prohibition bureau in the treasury department.

The measure drafted by Representative Crampton, republican, Michigan, has been favored by Secretary Mellon and Assistant Secretary Andrews, in charge of the prohibition unit.

Such a change is needed to curb diversion of alcohol and make federal enforcement more effective, Mr. Crampton told the committee.

Responsibility for individual law violations, he said, must be taken over in greater measure by state and local authorities.

Legislation is needed, Mr. Crampton said, to dignify with a bureau the machinery for coping with our most important national problems.

States must carry on much of the "police work" in enforcement, he said. "But federal control must be strong enough to prevent laxity in one place from weakening enforcement in surrounding territory."

Millwaukee, in pre-prohibition days, he said, was such a breeding place of "disrespect."

"Would you say that all police work in connection with enforcement should be given to the state?" asked Representative Mills, republican, New York.

"No, I would not make it that strong," Mr. Crampton replied, adding that decentralization should not be carried to a point where it would weaken national enforcement. The federal bureau should have control of border patrols, he said, as well as the issuing of permits for withdrawals.

JUNIOR CHAMBER LEAVES BASEBALL PLAN FOR DRIVE

Committee Decides To Give Way In Favor Of $50,000 Fight

SPORT INTEREST LACK REVIEWED

Organization To Back Industry Campaign To The Limit

What is believed the final knell to Twin City organized baseball this year was sounded today in a short meeting held at the offices of the Rountree Lumber company when Mr. Rountree, who has headed efforts to have the proposed baseball circuit extended to these cities, and committee members from the Junior Chamber of Commerce decided that the plan for raising a guarantee of $5,000 was not feasible at this time. The Junior members, including E. L. Morrow, B. C. Shelton and C. W. Knight, were appointed at the Thursday evening meeting of the commercial body to confer with Mr. Rountree.

This negative action was determined after absolute facts in the local situation were taken under discussion those present reviewing the apparent lack of interest in baseball at this time. It was likewise shown that a civic drive for $50,000 is proposed and committee members felt that the success of the latter drive was far more important than the development of a baseball team here this year.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is preparing to place every ounce of effort in back of the $50,000 industrial drive and opinions expressed pointed that the general membership felt that a drive for baseball at this time might interfere with the industrial drive.

The majority of enthusiasts have shown an apparent reluctance to placing any money in the baseball investment, according to leading fans who have made a preliminary canvass of the cities and while it was believed that the $5,000 might be forthcoming it was realized that the drive would prove a drawn out fight.

President Martin who has backed the plan for Albany-Decatur baseball requires that immediate action be taken as schedules must be made up before the opening season date.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 5—Herbert Julius, negro, was hanged here today in the county jail yard. The trap was sprung at 5:53 o'clock and he died six minutes later.

He had confessed and been convicted of the murder of William A. Sinnerich, in 1924. The body was found on a road about six miles from here. Julius said he killed Sinnerich with a blow on the head with a bottle, following an argument over payment of a debt.

County authorities said that this would probably be the last hanging here as the electric chair at Kilby prison will be put into use next January and no other prisoner is being held at this time for execution.

NEGRO HANGED

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 5—Ed Harris, negro, was hanged at the Fayette county jail here this morning at 6:17 a. m. He was charged with attacking Mrs. Margaret Bryant on January 19, after he had slain her husband and two children. The negro was pronounced dead at 6:30 a. m.

The courtyard was crowded with people, who witnessed the hanging. Two hundred or more persons who could not gain entrance viewed the hanging from a nearby garage at $2.00 a seat. The negro died on the gallows without benefit of clergy.

His voice failed him as he sought to make a promised statement from the scaffold. Harris mumbled "just tell them goodbye" and made a slight sign to his executioners to proceed.

Although the sentence pronounced upon Harris stated that he should be "hanged by the neck until dead" in the presence of not exceeding 100 persons approximately four times that many gained admittance to the jail yard, while hundreds more swarmed on the roofs of nearby buildings or looked out of windows.

Surplus Power Would Be Distributed To Neighboring States

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 5—Muscle Shoals would be turned over to the department of agriculture, to be used for the benefit of farmers, under a joint resolution prepared by Senator Smith, democrat, South Carolina, author of the original Muscle Shoals legislation.

Senator Smith plans to introduce his resolution as a substitute to the pending house concurrent resolution, that would authorize the joint congressional committee to negotiate a private lease for Muscle Shoals.

Under the Smith resolution the whole property will be turned over to the agriculture department for production of fertilizer and other materials used for the benefit of the farmers and for experimentation for the solution of various agricultural problems.

Any power remaining would be contributed to neighboring states on an equitable basis.

MARSHAL PRAISES THE DECATUR DEPT.

Presence Not Known, Watches Firemen Control Blaze

When the Decatur city council met last night the aldermen had an unannounced visitor in the person of Chester E. Johnson, of Montgomery, state fire marshal, who stopped over long enough to compliment the city's fire department.

Passing through here yesterday, and his presence not being known, he watched the department control, with slight loss, a blaze in the Star theater. Later he made an official inspection of the department's equipment.

He told the aldermen he was highly pleased with the efficiency shown by the department in handling the fire, and he found the equipment fully up to standards required in the state.

Marshal Johnson declared he also wanted to compliment the work of the police department at the time of the fire, stating that he saw three officers quickly take up the job of directing traffic, creating fire lines promptly so that the firemen might not be hampered in whatever work they might have to do. He stressed the co-operative feature, which he declared he found very pleasing.

Last night was the date set for hearing any objections which might be made to the making final of assessments on Lafayette street, Church street and Wilson avenue. No objections were made.

KNIGHT CHOSEN AS A DIRECTOR

Organization Reports Reflect Increase In Local Work

C. W. Knight was added to the board of directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Thursday evening in a membership gathering of that body, held at the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Knight fills a position declared vacant by executive board. Reports at the gathering reflected in a measure the interest members are taking in their work in aiding local industries and in encouraging new manufacturers to locate here.

With J. H. Smith, president, presiding, a detailed report of local industry was given by John Patterson member of the advisory committee. The report was received with interest and further plans made to aid the particular industry should the body be called upon.

Raw material reports were placed with W. L. Morris, secretary to be forwarded to a manufacturer who contemplates locating here if the supply of resource meets his requirements. The reports were most satisfactory in this particular case, revealing that the raw material is at hand in sufficient quantity to attract the manufacturer.

Baseball was discussed and a committee appointed to confer with Charles Rountree regarding the advisability of pressing a drive for the needed funds.

The meeting was closed after several short talks in which expressions were voiced, backing the proposed $50,000 drive for local industrial inducement.

RESOLUTION HIT BY NEBRASKAN

Senator Howell Begins Attack On House Measure

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON March 5—The senate today agreed to begin voting on the Muscle Shoals resolution and amendments at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Unanimous consent was obtained on motion of Senator Heflin, democrat, of Alabama, after he had failed to obtain consent at any time earlier than Monday.

Senator Howell, republican, Nebraska, then began a speech in opposition to the resolution, which would authorize a joint congressional committee to negotiate a private lease for Muscle Shoals.

Senator Howell asserted that the resolution urged as a measure to aid the farmer, should save each farm operator on the average of less than $2.00 a year.

"It is evident," Senator Howell said "that many persons, both in and out of congress, are laboring under the misapprehension of the purpose of those seeking to lease Muscle Shoals. If leased the dam and power plant will be used chiefly for generation of power for sale and the fertilizer operation will be a separate industry, based largely on the use of coke and coal."

LLOYD HEARING SET FOR MONDAY

The Huntsville Youth To Try For His Liberation

Preliminary hearing before Judge William T. Lowe of the Morgan County court has been granted Charles E. Lloyd, Huntsville youth, for Monday morning March 8 at 10 o'clock. The youth is being held in the Morgan County jail in connection with the death of T. A. Bryant, Albany merchant who was fatally wounded some weeks ago by an unidentified white bandit as the latter attempted to rifle the cash drawer at the Albany establishment.

Melvin Hutson, of the law firm of Wert and Hutson, has been employed by the defense as representative in this first legal brush in which the youth will ask his liberty. The boy strenuously denies any implication in the fatal shooting of Bryant and declares that he has proof that he was at work with a Huntsville Construction company upon the day of the shooting.

Lloyd was placed under arrest on Tuesday night in the Madison county capital by J. M. West, who has been working on the case.

SYNOPSIS

Prince Michael Yeredoff, wealthy Russian philanthropist in Paris, becomes interested in Colette, a pretty and unworldly poor girl; innocent young brother, Paul, whom he has always shielded, is vamped by Dolores, one of Michael's cast-offs, who uses him as a tool for revenge against Michael. Colette accidentally comes into possession of the priceless Yeredoff emerald; she plans to return it but is thwarted by Emile, her Apache brother-in-law, who coerces her by threatening to take away his motherless son, Billy, the apple of Colette's eye. Colette finally gets the gem, however, and flees. Meanwhile, Michael thinks Dolores stole the emerald.

CHAPTER IV—Continued

Some vagrant mental wind now connected Michael's reflections about Colette with thoughts of Dolores. He had been frankly disturbed by the new attitude—entirely foreign to and out of key with her usual character—which Dolores had adopted when Michael confronted her with Paul in the library. The soft-spoken, pliable girl whom he had always known had changed to a subtly determined woman, flinging a challenge in his teeth. Obviously, she had determined to make Paul her devoted admirer. That in itself would probably not be difficult for a woman of her charms. Paul, whom Michael had always sheltered from intimate contact with women, was at a susceptible age, when the gleam of pretty shoulders and the allurement of a beautiful face and a softly rounded figure would set his young blood on fire.

But what was Dolores' ulterior purpose? Hardly an honest interest in Paul, the mere boy! And not money—for she was plentifully supplied with that. Revenge—ah, that was it! Through his beloved brother, Dolores was going to try to wreak the vengeance of her piqued heart upon the man who had grown tired of her.

"This has gone far enough!"

"Well," thought Michael sourly, as he went downstairs, "that is a game at which two can play!" Paul was in the library. "Good morning, brother!" he called affectionately as Michael entered. "I was beginning to think that you had resolved to sleep all day!"

Was it only imagination that made Michael think Paul was evasively over-cordial; was less boyishly frank, less honestly straightforward than usual? Michael returned his greeting slowly, deliberately, studying the young man the while.

"No, indeed, but I must admit that my bed exercised a strong influence over me, and I was decidedly disinclined to tear myself away from its embrace. What is our program today? A walk, luncheon, and after that the Louvre?"

"I am afraid that I must change that a little," said Paul, embarrassed, "for I have a luncheon engagement. I could meet you later, however, and we could walk then."

"And with whom is the luncheon engagement, may I ask?"

"With—er—with a lady." Paul's face flushed with frustrated evasion.

"Sol. Probably the lady of last night's acquaintance."

Michael hesitated, as if to get a firm rein on his confidence; then continued slowly, "I can only say that I would prefer to have you arrange matters so that you will be suddenly prevented from keeping that appointment!"

Paul's face clouded with surprise and resentment. "I don't see how I can do that, nor why you should ask me to," he said. "Besides, I want to keep it."

"In this particular case, Paul," Michael said concisely, "I must insist that you do as I request!" "But your reasons, Michael? Why do you not wish me to meet Mademoiselle Dolores? She is a beautiful and charming person, and we got along famously."

Well Is Being Dug at Old Football Field Today

Well-diggers were employed in the first steps of building of the new ice plant of the Decatur Ice & Coal company what has been known as Cooper-Wells field, playing field for high school athletes for years. Drillers had proceeded a little over 17 feet this afternoon and approximated that the work will require about 25 days, the work is in charge of E. W. Hartselle.

Seen at the ice plant this afternoon, Jervis Jones, manager, declared that work on the new plant will not be started until repairs and improvements at the old plant are completed. The ice plant has been closed down since the middle of December, enough ice being placed in storage to take care of the needs of these cities and surrounding section until the installation of new machinery is finished.

The new plant will face on Sherman street, that street being run through to the L & N. tracks. The city of Albany has hauled cinders sufficient for a road bed for the time being.

12 Years Ago From the Daily of TODAY March 5, 1914

Contracts were printed today for the Decatur City League Baseball team.

Street sweeping last night brought a howl from the merchants. Some said that 7:30 in the evening was a good shopping hour and that the sweeping should be done later.

Twenty-five call boxes are being installed for the Western Union in Decatur.

Miss Mabel Nesbitt is confined to her home with illness.

"I dreamt I dwelled in marble halls," may be a musical gem in the Bohemian Girl, but it's a safe bet the author had been eating too much meat at supper.

Anytime a fellow feels that he is the one vital factor in the community progress he wakes to find that his candidate has been defeated at the polls, though he gave of his influence and time.

The dear old crocheting Congress at their Muscle Shoals tating—well, we are short on malediction casting apparatus and only cast silent disapproval at the greybeards who are alleged to be looking after the affairs of the public.

We certainly remove the dusty fedora, to Gadsden folk. What it takes to land industries, they have. It is interesting to learn that the quantity which other cities haven't shown in competition with Gadsden, comes down to plain dollars and cents combined with a willingness to part with a huge portion thereof.

Now if there is anything wrong with this weather, we fail to find what it is. Of course there is the two weeks Easter freeze to look forward to, but folks will be so busy dolling up in Easter bonnets it's likely that that too, will be overlooked.

The Daily is glad to welcome Reverend John A. Troxler to the cities. He comes here as pastor at the Westminster Presbyterian church. Pastors are people who are never too numerous in a town, their good work is illustrated here with sixty percent of Albany-Decaturites attending church services.

Julian Hall, editor of the Dothan Eagle, certainly is down on the plagiarist. Mr. Hall, like other good hard working editors, dislikes to see his material printed word for word unless there is a credit line and he is absolutely in the right. It isn't seldom that we hard working fellows get any recognition at all, we seldom can tell from the face of the public just how they have taken any particular article, unless it has been aimed directly at an individual, thus our praises are noticeably in the minority. Credit lines don't mean much to the average public, but to an editor the absence of a credit line on some of his material is like unto removing the halo from the head of an angel.

BOOSTING THAT HAS BROUGHT SPLENDID RESULTS

About the most ardent case of boost that we have run into lately has been developed in the Huntsville Daily Times under the capable editorship of our Honorable J. E. Pierce. Colonel Pierce has been boosting Huntsville and the Tennessee Valley to the outside world for many years, along with the other newspapers of this section of the country and the growth of Huntsville is more than noticeable in the result. Newspapers reflect the prosperity of a community and the growth of Huntsville is reflected in the devotion to the Tennessee Valley of friend Pierce. Major Pierce has slipped up on one point though, he won't agree at this time, he talks of Huntsville as the proud capital of the Tennessee Valley. He may be mistaken in proof reading. We are informed that Huntsville is the capital of Madison county. Our good friend Pierce undoubtedly overlooked the fact that Huntsville is away from the center of things and that the proposed seventy-five mile city that is to be built some of these days on the bank of the Tennessee river happens to be on this side of that turbulent body of water. He won a signal victory in changing the name of Muscle Shoals to Mussel Shoals, but he will have to pave some roads from this section of the Tennessee Valley into the Greater Huntsville district before he can count the proposed "Seventy-five mile city," the Tri-Twin City combination, before he can convince us that we are suburbs of the greater development. However, hope springs eternal and we do not begrudge him his fond hopes for Huntsville, we feel the same way about Albany-Decatur and the Tri-City district.

BIRMINGHAM'S STORY OF THE RICH CASE

Relatives of Abraham T. Rich, Birmingham merchant who took his life on last Tuesday, are completing legalities to fasten the blame of the death of the Magic City man on parties or organizations within that city, establishing persecution as a motive for the merchant's taking of his own life. That story will be unraveled later.

In the meanwhile the public has an opportunity to see into the history of one life which has vividly told the ups and downs of business life, the man who is on top one day and down the next, the employer whom in many cases workmen regard as a magnate, little thinking of the worries back of the business that is providing them with means for buying meat and bread for their children. The business man makes it a policy to keep smiling and it is seldom that he fails. It is his doctrine, smile and the world smiles with you, but Abraham Rich faltered at the last day with his smile doctrine. He had tried, if stories are true, to make the business a success. He had not taken even a salary from that establishment and in return he had given his life's blood. Rich had once been well off in this world's financial wealth and the pathetic thing about his death story was his recounting of the struggle through which he went after each day. He could see the business fail and he laughed, until the last few days. He fought with all the weapons he had at his command but it seems others judged too quickly. They forgot his better financial days, looked only at the defeat which stared him in the face. They judged though they wished not to be judged in such manner. They knew only the outside and cared little for what was going on the inside. Sunshine friends, friends who were worthless in the crisis. "The friends thou hast and their adoption tried, bind them to thyself with hoops of steel," but how is a man to judge whom are his friends when the world is cold and heartless? Discussing the death of the man some will believe him weak, yet his closing chapter of life defines a strength of character, in his last moment he asked that those who worked with him be trusted, he asked quarter not for himself, he asked for them. Truly he was a friend and he knew the value of a friend.

THE PRO AND CON OF AN EXTRA LEGISLATIVE SESSION

If the legislature would abolish two fool laws for every one enacted, there might be some excuse for an extra session of that body, declares the Jasper Mountain Eagle.

Such is true in a sense. We have a great many laws that are of little use to the people and the legislature would benefit the commonwealth of Alabama if repeal tactics were adopted. It is true that if the legislature would meet for such a purpose that the call would go forth in a short time. It is probable that the governor would waste no time in getting the law makers in session.

But here is another reason for the legislative body to get into session and produce results. As you guessed, it is the road bond issue. Is Alabama going to forget all that has been said in the last six months, forget an issue that is vital to the interests of every rural section in the state?

The House of Representatives has voted that Alabama be given sixteen millions of dollars for the building of bridges, the measure has not gone through the Senate, but there is little fear felt that the Senate will veto the act, thus has the state highway commission been authorized to build sixteen bridges in the state of Alabama. All fine enough, but what of the roads leading to these bridges? Towns and cities cannot be built upon these bridges, how there is little fear felt that the Senate will vote the act, city or town unless there is road built over which farmers may reach these fine bridges. Alabama must not forget that the road bond issue is the biggest thing in the state at this time, forget political issues, let other things go by the boards until there is definite action taken upon a road bond issue. The people of North Alabama are expecting action on the roads program and they're getting mighty tired of waiting.

SECRETARY MELLON DAMPENS THE HOPE OF PROHIBITION INVESTIGATORS

Secretary Mellon gives an unfavorable report upon the conclusion reached by "drys" that an investigation, or study of national conditions will aid the prohibition laws in this country and we cannot help but agree with Mr. Mellon that this study and the appointment of committees is a thing of the past.

We see the committee idea fade each day in our own communities, we look at Congress and see all the row a small committee has raised which has been called to study Muscle Shoals conditions after that section has been under the mandatory eye for the past ten years.

The appointment of committees is not going to lessen violations of the Volstead act, neither is it going to place a reputable set of officers in a position to enforce the law. There is but one move, as we see it, that will definitely place the prohibition issue out of all question in the future and that is the matter of honest-to-goodness enforcement. Enforcement of the statute upon the rich and the poor alike, penalties for all in equal portions. Penalties which money cannot remove, penalties upon which the technicality can make no impression.

Take the case of Earl Carroll, the producer who claims that he is not a liquor law violator as he has appeared as a witness in a liquor law case, he has gone before a grand jury and the law declared that any man who goes before a grand jury and testifies in such a case cannot be convicted of the violation. The general public knows that such a law is rotten to the core. Especially loop-holed into the Volstead act so that some private interests might be benefited in escaping the law. It is not just that one man shall be convicted of crime when another shall go free for the same offense. It is not just that law violators are to be caught by law violators. That is the principal defect in the enforcement of the Volstead act. There must be a dress up in the enforcement department if persons are to think before wilfully violating the law. Enforcement forces should be picked with as great care as officials should be picked for other departments. You cannot expect any man to abide by a law when he knows that a man who is enforcing the law is not worthy of the power that he has been given.

No investigation and study is going to bring very little to the dry advocates, though they may be starting with hearts and heads high. The prohibition statute has done more for this country than any other ten laws, but like human beings it is not infallible, there are flaws which are not as yet corrected, flaws which will never be corrected. A committee is not going to be able to correct the lives of people, therefore its report, while reading well on paper, will hardly suffice. It is to the people in the last analysis that the enforcement of the law is left. Juries will place penalties if they desire to see liquor manufactured in a less degree. Those who have the power of appointment of officers in such work will see that the officer is worthy of the job that he is doing and that he is better than the criminal he is chasing. That, we believe, will be the final secret of the success of the Volstead act, it is a waste of time to appoint committees to study something that is already revealed.

should have complete membership in the League of Nations. Germany threatens to start an independent league with Russia, Austria, Scandinavia and some others in it, possibly Kemal's beligerent Turkey.

Will Uncle Sam be urged to join the new League of Nations also as "financial angel?" and will mushy sentimentalists persuade the United States to join "to preserve beautiful peace?"

How long before the two leagues would begin fighting each other?

IDA RUBENSTEIN, temperamental Russian actress, who wanted to be the first woman at the north pole, is back from killing lions in Africa, and returns to her former dear friend, Gabriele D'Annunzio. From wild African lions with their shaggy manes to the completely bold D'Annunzio is something of an anti-climax.

D'Annunzio announced recently that he was going back to his first wife. There is no knowing what genius will do to prove its originality.

One famous individual actually jumped into a volcano, that he might perish romantically.

ON MONDAY natives of Korea in America celebrated the seventh anniversary of Korean autonomy, remembering how Koreans were massacred after recent Japanese earthquakes, you realize that autonomy doesn't do them much good, but they enjoyed the birthday.

One American assured them that Confucius was really a Korean. Another told them, far more important than Korean engineers in 21 B. C. changed the course of the Yellow river for a distance of 824 miles, a task as great as though the Mississippi river were diverted from St. Louis and turned into the Atlantic Ocean.

COLONEL WILLIAM BOYCE THOMPSON, by the way, who lives part of the year in Arizona, says the surplus waters of the Mississippi could perfectly well be diverted to irrigate Western deserts, thus ending Mississippi floods forever. The government would do that sort of work if it could get as much excited about the future welfare of the United States as it does about sending money to help Europeans in their fights.

WOMAN in her hours of ease is uncertain, gay and hard to please, and sometimes extremely silly. Now she wants toymakers to stop making soldiers because they fill children's minds with war-like thoughts. Can you imagine that? Think of Eugene Field's little tin soldier making its owner want to go out and kill somebody. Why not forbid selling little toy dogs to prevent children becoming dog fighters?

GOVERNOR SMITH of New York demands official investigation of crime. Two hundred and sixty-two murders in New York, compared to London's forty-two murders in one year seem too many.

The commission should begin with bootlegging and hijacking. The outburst of crime is the plain result of profitable violation of the prohibition laws.

When big men can make millions and little men, with barely intelligence enough to pull a trigger, can make thousands by committing crimes, you will have plenty of crimes committed.

Five Young Men Rob Missouri Bank

(Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, March 5—Five young men held up Hamilton State bank here today and escaped in an automobile with $15,000 or more. Fourteen employees and customers were in the bank at the time.

One of the robbers remained in the car while four others entered the bank. The employees and customers were forced to lie on the floor, while the robbers, all of whom were masked and armed, looted two tellers' cages. A patrolman, who commanded a passing automobile and pursued got close enough to the robber's car to fire several shots at it. Then the fleeing car speeded up and was lost to sight.

LONDON—Marie Lloyd Jr., is the name under which the daughter of the late Marie Lloyd has made her appearance in British music halls. The young woman has much the appearance of her famous mother in the days when the latter first appeared in vaudeville in the United States, and also many of her mother's quaint mannerisms.

COLUMBIA HONORS MEMORY OF GEERS

Shaft of Granite Will Be Erected In Memory Of Horseman

Press dispatches tell of the shipment from Mount Airy, N. C., of a monument to Columbia, Tenn., to be placed there in memory of the late "Pop" Geers noted horseman and brother-in-law of W. R. Smith of Albany.

The monument will cost approximately $60,000 and funds were raised by the people of Columbia, and by friends of the beloved horseman from all over America and many foreign countries.

The following dispatch from Mount Airy in the Charlotte Observer, describes the shaft:

"A monument of Mount Airy granite with a spire or obelisk terminating in an apex on several bases, has been completed by the J. D. Sargent Granite company of this city, and the last shipment was made Saturday. This monument will be erected at Columbia, Tenn., to the memory of the noted horseman, Edward Franklin Geers, who died in 1924 at the age of 73 years, affectionately known in the sport world as 'Pop' Geers.

"The contract for this shaft was given to the Sargent company last October, funds for the memorial being contributed by friends of the noted horseman from all over the world, and it is said that the Prince of Wales was among the first to offer a generous contribution. These funds were handled by a group of close friends, who organized 'The Geers Memorial Association.'

"Four inscriptions, one on each side of the monument and just under the spire, give the dates of birth and death, his name, and tributes to the man, the letters being cut deep into the granite."

New Farm Relief Plan Is Mapped

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 5—A new plan of farm relief based on the Dickinson bill, was presented to the house agricultural committee today by the middle west delegation appointed at the Des Moines agricultural conference.

Although along the line of the Dickinson measure, it contains several alternatives. The Dickinson bill would establish a federal farm board and provide for levying against the farmer an equalization fee and place it in a revolving fund, which would be used to insure prices for surplus crops.

The fee would be collected on the first sale of products from the farm.

Skinny Men Glad

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitamins that make flesh, create appetite, builds up the power to resist disease and puts good solid flesh on skinny men and women.

But it's horrible tasting stuff and every day fewer people are taking it, for doctors are prescribing and people are fast learning that they can get better results with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, which Caddell Drug Co., and druggists all over the country are having a tremendous demand for.

One woman gained 10 pounds in 22 days and if any skinny man or woman can't put on 5 pounds in 30 days, your druggist is authorized to refund the purchase price.

Be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets—60 cents—Advt.

DECATUR HI-Y CLUB HEARS DR. STEELE

Splendid Address Given On "Faith" By The Noted Speaker

The Decatur Hi-Y club held its regular meeting last night at the home of Vernon McGwier on East Walnut street. Practically the entire membership was present, also a visitor, as well as O. R. Grimes and John McGhee, club advisors.

Aside from the devotional service and routine business of the club, those present were privileged to hear a most splendid talk on the subject of "Faith" by Dr. S. A. Steele, formerly in charge of the First Methodist church pastorate of Decatur. Dr. Steele now resides in Mansfield, Louisiana.

Members of the Decatur Hi-Y club from President Joe Broadus on down, are worthy of commendation for their effort in obtaining a speaker for the evening such as Dr. Steele. The program committee is now at work to obtain a prominent speaker for next week, who will handle the subject of "Prayer."

STATE TOURNEY SET FOR BASKETEERS

Sixteen Teams Are Entered From Eight Districts

(Associated Press)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 5.—Drawings for the state high school basketball tournament which begins here tomorrow were held last night. Sixteen teams representing eight districts are in the meet and will get off in the preliminary rounds tomorrow morning.

Up until a late hour today the names of the teams in the meet were not obtainable due to the fact that several of the district tournaments were held up until the time for the state meet.

The tournament will be held on the Central Y. M. C. A. court with the finals slated for Saturday night. In view of the fact that each of the two teams from each of the districts fought their way to representation in the state tournament by eliminating the teams of their district, the cream of the prep basketball talent of the state is expected to assemble here for the meeting.

Officials selected for the tournament are said to be the best obtainable by the tournament authorities. These referees and umpires are expected to handle the tournament without a hitch.

Some keen competition is looked for in the tourney. The best teams of the state are here to compete, and each outfit is keyed to the nth degree.

The two local representatives are counted on as strong contenders for the state title. Both Phillips High and Woodlawn High have very high calibre machines and barring any accidents to the men, they are expected to represent this district in fine style. At least one of these teams is expected to enter the final rounds, local supporters say.

Due to the fact that two of the largest schools in this district are represented in the tourney and that teams from all over the state are here a large attendance is looked for. Prof. W. W. Abel of the Y. M. C. A. has made every arrangement possible to accommodate the basketball followers expected.
